

Strengthening Connection

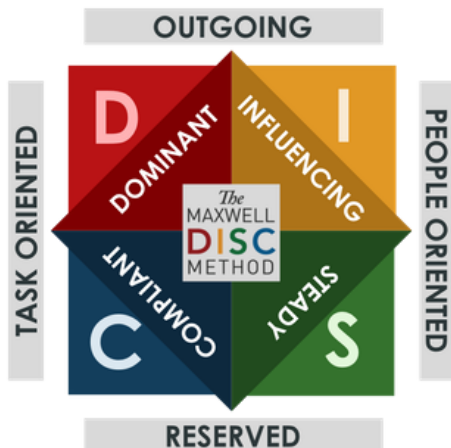

Segment 1

Curiosity is essential for progress. Only when we look to world's beyond our own can we really know if there's room for improvement.
-Simon Sinek

Core Value

When you participate in faculty meetings or collaborate with your colleagues, which personal value do you believe is most consistently reflected in your actions?

What's your preferred or primary personality style?

Circle one:

D I S C

My personality causes a _____ ripple effect when _____.

1. How do I naturally contribute during faculty meetings?
2. When your workload becomes overwhelming, what version of you shows up?
3. If someone only knew you through your emails, what personality would they experience?
4. What kind of emotional climate do your students experience because of your personality?
5. When I'm stressed, I tend to, What ripple does that behavior create for others?